Manchester Getting Ready.

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 25.—The Manchester Base Ball Association was formed this afternoon to control the local team in the New England League. W. J. Freeman was engaged as manager of the team. The players will report Wednesday, and the first game will be played on the home grounds with the Lowell Saturday afternoon.

General Sporting Notes.

Base ball enthusiasts in this town are waiting for the meeting at Gage Brothers store this evening, when the association will be reorganized, a manager chosen, and the date set for the team to report. It is thought that Mr. M. J. Garity will be chosen manager.

There seems to be no truth in the story that Kirmess, signed for Portland, will be changed for Webster. Kirmess has played third base with John Morrill team of Boston, the Lovells and the Salmons, and is highly recommended by John Morrill.

There is some hope that Slater, who played with Portland last year, may be induced to come back this year. He is now working in a Massachusetts shoe shop.

One Portland battery will be Platt and Tobin. These players made a good record in the Connecticut League last year. In one game they held the Yales down to single figures in hits and two runs.

The Portland team will probably be as strong as any in the league. Brockton may figure as a little the strongest on paper, but there is no material difference.

Quite an interesting game of ball was played last Saturday at Gray Park, by the Pennell Institutes of Gray and the Unions of Cumberland Centre, resulting in favor of the Unions by a score of 13 to 10.

The fishing at Sebago Lake has not been good for the last few days, few, if any, fish being taken. The smelts are up the Songo and the salmon are not around the usual grounds.

Trout fishermen are having good luck in Little River and other brooks in the vicinity of Gorham.

Red Brook, in Scarborough, has been fished pretty industriously this spring, but so far without very good luck.

Black bass fishing is coming on now in a few days.

There will be a game of ball at the horse car grounds this afternoon, between the Westbrook High School and Westbrook Seminary clubs. The game will be called at 3 p. m.

THIRD CORPS UNION.

The Annual Meeting Will Be in Boston Next Week.

Extensive arrangements are being made in Boston for the reunion of the Third Army Corps in that city on Thursday, May 5th. Generals Sickles, Carr and Butterfield are expected as guests of the society. The arrangements have been placed in the hands of a committee of New England members, with Colonel William L. Candler of Boston as chairman, and the following members: Major William P. Shreve, treasurer; Captain Isaac P. Gregg, secretary; General Chas. P. Mattocks, Portland; Colonel Frank D. Pullen of Bangor; Major Benjamin F. Calef, Captain Clarion H. Kimball, General Thomas H. Dunham, General Samuel Dalton, General Charles Hamlin of Bangor, Colonel M. B. Lakeman, Colonel Thomas R. Mathews, Lieutenant Charles E. Foster of Manchester, N. H., Private Henry C. Hall.

The arrangements, as far as perfected, include the following: Headquarters will be at the Parker House. The programme for May 5 will be as follows: 10.00 a. m.—Meeting for social reunion; also business meeting of the directors and trustees. 11.00 a. m.—Annual meeting of the Third Corps Union for election of officers, consideration of amendments to the constitution, admission of new members, etc. 1.30 p. m.—Excursion to Fort Warren, Boston harbor, on invitation of the commandant, Major William Sinclair, Fourth United States Artillery.

The City of Boston has tendered to the committee the hospitality of the city, and the use of the steamer Bradlee for the trip to Fort Warren.

Comrades desiring hotel accommodations secured for them in advance will write as early as possible to Captain Isaac P. Gregg, 53 State street, room 422, Boston, Mass.

The Third, Fourth and Seventeenth Maine Infantry, and—after the consolidation of the Third and Second Corps—the First Maine Heavy Artillery served in this corps.

EXPORT REBATE.

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Spike This Gun.

A Washington despatch, published yesterday, stated that the Interstate Commerce Commission had notified thirty railroads to show cause why, within 20 days, the Boston rate from Chicago and points west of Buffalo to Boston and New England points shall not be made in the future by adding to the New York rate an increase of 10 per cent. It is not thought that the roads will file any answer, and it seems to be the general impression that they will at once make the rate without further controversy. If this is done, it will be a matter of considerable interest to Portland merchants, as affecting the "export rebate" question. Under present rates the charge on an hundred pounds of freight from the West to Boston and other New England points is five cents more than to New York. If the roads accede to the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, this difference will be reduced to about two cents on an hundred pounds. The "export rebate" would then be only two cents, instead of five; and would be so reduced as to cease to be a disadvantage to Portland merchants.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The New York convention is to be held in Madison Square Garden, July 7-10. It is estimated that from 20,000 to 25,000 will be in attendance. The committee having in charge the arrangements for Maine are to issue their official circular in a few days. Following are a few of its leading points: The delegates will leave Portland by special train, July 6th, at 1 o'clock, arriving at Providence, R. I., about half past seven. Here one of the palatial sound steamers will be taken, and a refreshing night's rest can be obtained. Arrangements have been made for not arriving at New York until eight or nine o'clock, so that all may have the grand opportunity of seeing its magnificent approaches by daylight.

The very low rate of $7 for the round trip from Portland has been secured.

Maine will be quartered at hotels Normandie and Oriental on Broadway, corner 35th and 36th streets, respectively. The Normandie will be the headquarters of the committee. These hotels are all that can be desired, and are within 10 or 15 minutes walk of the convention building.

It is desired that applications for tickets and accommodations be made at once, and the sooner they are in the hands of the committee, the easier it will be for them, and the more satisfactory to you.

Called to Boston.

To the Editor of the Press: It was only a short time since that one of Portland's most popular clergymen was called to fill an important Boston pulpit, and now another Boston church invites two popular members of Portland church choirs to places in its choir, accompanying the invitation with very tempting salaries for a term of years. The church which extends the invitation to Miss Ricker and Miss Knight is fortunate in having in its membership a gentleman of large income who has spent much of it in times past for the benefit of his church in various ways, and is anxious to secure fine musical talent, having already an organist who went from Portland a few years ago, if we are not mistaken, and whose talent was then fully recognized. Thus our city and state are continually contributing to the enrichment of other states.

A Handsome Boat.

Pedestrians on Congress street yesterday were attracted by the large and beautiful model of a ship in the window of Geo. C. Shaw & Co.'s store. The model is 34 inches long, cutter rigged, and perfect to the smallest details of blocks and finishings. This little beauty is the work of Messrs. George Laron, John F. Green, Joseph Brown and David Lovett, of the Twitchell Champlin Co.'s establishment. Mr. Green built the hull, Mr. Laron, an old sailor, made the rigging, Mr. Lovett the brass work and Mr. Brown the rails and houses. The craft is named the Len G., and is to be the property of the son of Mr. L. Gerrish, of the Twitchell, Champlin Co.

NEW YORK LETTER.

Timely Matters Discussed by One on the Inside.

Well-Paid Lawyers—A Man of Much Romance—How Some People Live—Rich Widows in Demand.

[COPYRIGHT, 1892.]

The feeble-minded Albany legislature seems to have cut the jugular of David Bennett Hill in his person as a presidential candidate, and left him slightly demoralized by the wayside. Perhaps Mr. Hill should not have been held responsible for the conduct of the democratic legislature, but the fact that he took such a lively personal interest in securing a democratic majority in both branches is laid up against him now that his creation has turned out so badly. This legislature, with its huckle-berry bills and other fruits of vicious legislation, has given the democracy a severe set-back. This is unfortunate from a party standpoint, as Gov. Flower's 50,000 majority last fall indicated that the New York democracy was in good trim for the presidential campaign. So far as Mr. Cleveland is concerned the work of the New York legislature has been a godsend to his boom. It has served to stultify additional odium upon the snail convention of Mr. Hill, and in every way has worked to the advantage of Mr. Cleveland. This goes to show that Madam Good Luck continues to walk by the side of Grover and protect him even when the storms of fate howl around him most pitilessly and threaten to blow him to Kingdom Come. But, as in Rhode Island and New Jersey, the democracy of New York is not in satisfactory condition, and suggests the folly of taking a man from this state to be the democratic standard-bearer. It will be quite necessary for the democratic candidate to carry the state if he would be elected, and I find no unbiased politicians in these parts who believe that either Hill or Cleveland can do it, notwithstanding Mr. Flower's big majority. That "good western man," whom we hear so much about, should keep his best foot forward and listen for the order to advance and take charge of the embattled democratic hosts. Still, it looks like Cleveland, and the good western man will probably have to wait another four years. He is used to it and won't mind it much, I hope—especially if he happens to be Mr. William Steele Holman or Bill Morrison or Springer or Palmer.

WELL PAID LAWYERS.

Senator Carlisle's fee of $25,000, which he is to receive in the Preston-Beal case, decided in the court of appeals at Frankfort, Ky., the other day, recalled to a New York lawyer some of the large fees that have been paid to attorneys. From him I gathered these facts. Judge Brown, of Memphis, also in a Kentucky case, received a fee of $50,000. This was the case of R. H. Brown against Alexander Tinsley, and was contested by the people of Muhlenberg county, Ky., to avoid the payment of county bonds to the amount of $400,000, with accrued interest issued in 1890, in aid of the Elizabethtown and Paducah Railroad Company. The whole amount involved in the suit was something over $1,000,000. The case in which Senator Carlisle won his big fee made the heirs of Robert Wickliffe richer to the extent of $250,000. Gen. Draper, of New Jersey, is married to one of these heirs, and it was as the representative of Mrs. Draper that Senator Carlisle came into the case, and his fee comes entirely from her portion of the estate. I am told that the senator did not even make an exhaustive study of the case, but made his argument at Frankfort from briefs filed by the attorneys for other heirs.

To do this required his presence in Frankfort five days, and this is said to have been all the time he had to devote to the case, so that his big earnings were as much per day as a member of congress receives for a year of heavy braining for his country and the old flag—not counting perquisites. But Senator Carlisle is not the only statesman who has made a good-sized fee in a law case. The decision of the United States supreme court was handed down something over a year ago in the Fiske will case against the Cornell university. In this case the university lost $1,750,000, and the law firm of Hill & Bacon is said to have received $400,000 as their honorarium from the successful heirs. The Mr. Hill in this firm is none other than Senator David Bennett Hill, now, or until lately, a candidate for president. Bacon instituted this suit eight or ten years ago, when he was practicing law with Hill in Elmira, and he used to say if he won the case he and his partner would have all the money they wanted for the rest of their lives. His ambition was to own a newspaper in New York. As Mr. Bacon has not appeared here upon the journalistic scene, and as it is understood that his law firm has received the big fee, the presumption is that he has changed his mind in regard to the newspaper. The fee which John E. Parsons, the New York lawyer, received for organizing the sugar trust is believed to be the largest ever paid to one New York attorney. The amount was $400,000, the same sum received by Messrs. Hill and Bacon in the Fiske case. And yet, notwithstanding this large fee, it did not take the courts long, once they got at it, to destroy the apparently invincible legal structure which the able and high-priced lawyer had reared. Mr. Parsons is getting along well in years, but he continues to retain his close resemblance to Ralph Waldo Emerson. He appears but rarely in the courts, but always in connection with some big corporation case. The smashing of the Sugar trust in the courts and the voluntary dissolution of the Standard Oil trust will no doubt have a depressing influence upon the expensive legal business of organizing trusts. A very snug fee was claimed by Judge George M. Curtis and George S. Rosinza for their services in the contest over the will of Malby G. Lane, which occupied the attention of the public some months ago. The contest was settled by a compromise with the heirs and the will set aside. Mrs. Lane signed a contract, which was filed in court, agreeing to pay Judge Curtis and Mr. Hastings $20,000 for their services. Two of the children of Mr. Lane contested this and a compromise was effected.

A MAN OF MUCH ROMANCE.

The announcement made the other day that Mr. Timothy Hopkins had resigned the trusteeship of the Southern Pacific Railway Company calls renewed attention to the marvelous romance of this man, who cut something of a figure in these parts last autumn. His retirement from the railway service, I observe, was marked by a great act of benevolence on his part. He presented the Stanford University of California with 1,000 volumes and 1,000 pamphlets, composed entirely of railroad literature, reports collected from various states. It probably cost Mr. Hopkins about 8 cents personally, and would be worth-while the market price of paper junk happens to be in California at this time. Still, it shows that Mr. Hopkins, on whom fortune has smiled and winked so graciously, is disposed to give away something, and now that he has taken his place among the millionaires of the country there is a hope that he may yet furnish a corner stone for a church. By his recent settlement with the Searles estate Mr. Hopkins came into possession of $3,000,000. This, taken in connection with the million-dollar estate given him by his foster mother before her death, makes him a very rich man. As his instincts are of a generous character the probabilities are that he will never be worth any less money unless overtaken by some disastrous stroke. For these $3,000,000 it may be said that Mr. Hopkins practically never rendered a particle of service. The only labor involved was the changing of his name from Timothy Nolan to Timothy Hopkins. Certainly Mr. Richard Whittington—he of the famous cat—could not point to a more remarkable career than that which has fallen upon Mr. Hopkins. Picked up from beside the wastebut of his mother by the kind-hearted wife of old Mark Hopkins he became in time her adopted son, and although spoiled as a railroad brakeman and educated to be something of a gentleman he manages to secure a very fine slice of old Hopkins' estate by maligning and traducing the memory of his benefactors. It is said that he is a shrewd financier—that he can readily believe—and that his talent is in the direction of economics. It is related that while treasurer of the Southern Pacific Railway Company he instituted one reform alone which saved several thousands of dollars a year to the company. He found that the correspondence of the company was being conducted in all of its branches on Irish linen paper. He introduced a fair article of Manila paper into the service and this saved the corporation at least $5,000 per annum. As the Hopkins estate was largely interested in the Southern Pacific railway it may be said that this was about the greatest service he rendered it for the $4,000,000 which have fallen to him like manna out of the skies. If Mr. Hopkins' tastes were political we might expect to hear of him turning up as a United States senator one of these days. I am told, however, that he cares nothing about politics and is chiefly devoted to his flower garden at Menlo park.

HOW SOME PEOPLE LIVE.

We are always hearing about the queer modes of earning a livelihood which are encountered in this wonderful city. I saw, in one of the newspapers the other day, a statement that certain young men are now picking up daily bread by exercising the pet dogs of the fashionable women of the city. When the weather is not propitious for promading the women who own and cherish dogs are not able to perform that interesting function of exercising their pets. For a weekly stipend these young men, known as dog exercisers, call at the houses of their customers and take their dogs out for what might be termed a "canine constitutional." These young men are necessarily of high character and known probity, and in course of time they will become valuable dog fanciers and dealers. But the people who have the queerest and most devious ways of picking up a living are the hustling women. "Lady agents" are a thing of the past. The disinclination of woman to engage in any business which smacks of the "agent" feature is so well recognized that such houses as the Appletons, Harper Bros., etc., have ceased advertising for agents to canvass for their works of art and resort to innocently worded "ads." which catch even the most wary. Then a personal interview with a suave and persuasive man, who moves and my lady, who would not for worlds become an agent, is engaged as a special representative, and her conscience is thus appeased. It is wonderful how many women, and high up in the social swim, too, are engaged in "booming" this, that or the other thing. The booming is generally done in their own immediate circle of friends. The method pursued is identical with that of the society man who only orders a certain brand of wine in a loud voice, "don't you know, because it is the only fit wine on the market," and carries the cork away in his pocket as vouchers for the money spent. Your friend calls on you, and in a burst of confidence imparts the information that she has "just, quite by accident, you know, run across the most wonderful and dainty toilet cream, and if you wish a jar, why, I'll order it sent to you, my dear." Of course you order the cream because you really appreciate so much usefulness, and the commission is pocketed by your friend. You lost nothing, however, for there is all the trouble of shopping saved, and you pay no more for the goods. Really the secret "booming" is worthy of her wage, for it requires tact, and she is so good-natured with it all. Another pretty little subterfuge is to "speak of a certain article by letter, as: 'Oh, by the way, I had almost forgotten to tell you, Helen dear, I have found the cutest and cunningest (something or other), and so cheap, too. Just what you have been looking for. The cost is a trifle, only (here she inserts one dollar or ten dollars, as the case may be). Shall I send you one, dear?' Of course, 'dear' says yes. The commission business is carried to greater extremes in New York than in any city in the world. The hotel clerk who recommends you to a hat store around and collects his little percentage. Every customer sent to a tailor, a haberdasher, bric-a-brac dealer or milliner is worth so much to somebody and the man who is instrumental in placing an advertisement in a newspaper invariably presents his picaresque claim. There is not a business in this city, however inconsequential, which does not have its parasite.

WANTED—A RICH WIDOW.

It will perhaps be remembered that in this letter, some time ago, I devoted a bit of space to the wealthy widows of the country. These facts were gathered at considerable pains, and I am pleased to know that they have not been wholly wasted. I received the other day a letter from Mr. J. H. French, a partner in a firm at North Toluca, Kan., dealing in hardware, tinware, stoves, wagons, agricultural implements, etc. In this letter Mr. French expresses a desire to secure as a wife and helpmeet a widow of some fortune, and, assuming that I was an expert in these matters, sent me his rather quaint appeal. As his letter may interest some of the rich widows of the country I feel justified in giving it to the public. My personal knowledge of rich widows is somewhat limited. Here is Mr. French's letter:

"Dear Sir: I see an article written by you about rich widows. I am a widower of forty-six years and want a number one widow about thirty to thirty-five years old for a wife. I am a home man, and like to make home pleasant for a wife. I am a good man. Have two children—boy of eight, girl of fourteen. I want a wife and a mother for them. One who can play and sing and knows how to take care of a home. I have held place of respect in my community, and am equal with the best of men here, also in my business. Find me please such a woman as I have asked for, and put me on the right way to get acquainted, and I will be under great obligation to you. I mean business in a business-like manner. I would assist you under like circumstances. Please find stamp and envelope, and please write me, as I want a happy home once more. Yours, J. H. French."

I trust that this will fall under the eye of some kind widow, possessed of at least $100,000, who is searching for a happy, Christian home in the western section of the union. When a man says he will assist me under like circumstances he can depend upon my doing my very best for him. If Mr. French does not secure a helpmeet through this broadcast advertisement it will probably be because the demand for $100,000 widows is somewhat in excess of the supply.

THE OHIO MAN TO THE FRONT.

The dinner given by the Ohio society to Mr. Whitelaw Reid, our late minister to France, was a charming affair. It brought together some of the brightest and most alert minds in the country. Mr. Reid certainly had reason to feel highly complimented, as the dinner was in every sense a marked event. The Ohio society, which, by the way, is becoming a social power in this city, was never better represented than at this dinner. We have all heard a great deal about the potentiality of Ohio and the way in which it has impressed itself upon public affairs since the beginning of the civil war. The fact was brought out at this dinner the other night that not only the president of the United States is an Ohio man, but four members of his cabinet—Messrs. Foster, Blaine, Noble and Root—had the honor to be born in that radiant and assertive state. Mr. Halstead, commenting upon this dinner, says that he was much struck by the pleasant intercourse which took place between Mr. George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Charles A. Dana. They sat side by side at the table and their geniality diffused a pleasant glow over the entire dining hall. The fact that Mr. Dana had for many years "guyed" and poked fun at the noble-hearted editor of the Ledger seemed, in the estimation of the company present, to call for a little coolness. When this was not manifested an impression prevailed that the editorial millenium had arrived. As a matter of fact Mr. Dana is one of the most genial men at the dinner table I ever met. Although seventy-three years of age, his mind is as acute as that of a boy of twenty, and he has a way of saying pleasant things which suggests a sweetness of temper almost feminine. He does not seem to bear malice against those who have reviled him and he does not allow any of the amenities of the dining room to interfere with his pastime of flaying people who happen to cross his orbit. In other words, his dinner geniality seems to be as evanescent as the champagne. A few years ago I sat by his side at a dinner given in Boston to Col. Taylor, of the Globe. Notwithstanding the hostility which had been engendered between the Sun and the World Mr. Dana was almost fatherly in his tenderness to me that evening. He chatted pleasantly about pretty much everything and everybody. The impression left upon my mind was that Mr. Dana was one of the sweetest and least understood men in the journalistic profession. Ever regarding him as a pirate, I shifted around before the evening was over to a point where I could almost contemplate him as my Uncle Toby. We parted the loveliest of friends. A few days afterward he wrote and published in the Sun a most malicious and unprovoked attack upon me. I have been watching the Sun every day since the Reid dinner to see how completely the venerable organ will lay out Mr. Childs with his editorial bludgeon, just by way of emphasizing his independence.

TUESDAY, APRIL 26.

There was a time when the Argus contended that nobody knew what the effect of free silver coinage would be, and sharply reprimanded everybody that undertook to predict on that point. But yesterday it itself declared that the immediate effect of free silver "would be harmful to a degree little short of panic." We quite agree with our contemporary and are glad that at last it has got its eyes open.

New York lawyers are not ready to accept the whitewashing report of the legislative committee as a sufficient vindication of Judge Maynard. In Buffalo the leading lawyers are signing an endorsement of the report of the New York Bar Association, which was a condemnation of the judge and a recommendation for his impeachment. The lawyers in other cities will probably follow suit. Maynard bids fair to occupy a very unenviable position on the bench, and if he has any sensitiveness at all it would seem that a regard for his own comfort would lead him to soon step down and out.

The report that Welsh tin plate makers are going to move to the United States and that a new tin plate factory has just been started at Baltimore with a capacity of 1600 boxes a week will be sad news to the opponents of the McKinley bill, who seem to hate the tin plate schedule of that measure beyond every other section in it. Whether this is because of their love for the British tin plate makers or their fear that a successful industry may be built up here by means of the tariff, it is difficult to say, but true it is that they have ridiculed, lied about and denied all assertions that tin plate was being made in this country or could be made with a persistency indicative of the deepest bitterness.

The statements of the Washington Post with regard to the intentions of Republican leaders are always as interesting as they are unreliable. The Post is a sensational paper of pronounced Democratic sympathies, and is always ready to attribute unworthy motives to Republican leaders with perfect recklessness. The statement which was sent out from its office Sunday night to the papers of the country in regard to Mr. Reed was characterized by the grossest misrepresentation, and could have been inspired only by someone who wished to do him harm. The intent of the despatch was so evident that no intelligent reader need be reminded of it, but a statement as to the character of the source whence it originated may be of advantage to those readers who would otherwise have no means of estimating its worth.

The action of the House of Representatives in the Rockwell-Noyes contested election case was a distinct and notable victory for Hill. The committee on elections of which the majority is composed of Democrats had, after a full examination of the case, reported in favor of the Republican Noyes, and against the Democrat Rockwell, who had been counted in by the peculiar methods which Hill employed in New York last fall to capture the State House of Representatives. But Hill undertook to defeat the committee's report in the House and by the aid of Tammany he succeeded. The great majority of the Cleveland Democrats voted to sustain the committee, and all the Republicans voted the same way. But the Hill influence proved powerful enough to defeat both and to steal the seat for his friend Rockwell. This piece of thievery did not have the poor excuse that the Democrats needed to increase their majority, for they had a majority so big already that they did not know what to do with it.

THE DOUBT ABOUT CLEVELAND.
It becomes more evident daily that Cleveland is the first choice of the Democratic masses, and that a majority, if not two-thirds of the delegates to the national convention will go to Chicago desirous of nominating him. And yet it cannot be safely asserted that his nomination is assured. There is one obstacle that stands in the way of his selection, and that is the doubt of his ability to carry New York. Much as the Democrats want Cleveland they want success more, and they will sacrifice the former before they will the latter. It may be within the region of possibilities to elect Cleveland without New York, but the probabilities are so much against it that he would be an extremely rash Democrat who should counsel his party to accept a candidate who was weak in the Empire State. In Presidential elections New York is always a very close State. When Cleveland was elected in 1884 he carried it by only a little over one thousand plurality, though there was no very serious opposition to him in his own party. In 1888 he failed to carry it by over 12,000 plurality, though he had been nominated by the Democrats without opposition and met no organized opposition from any faction of his party. This year he is pretty certain to encounter a very bitter opposition in New York, an opposition which will be directed by a man who has undoubtedly a very large following among the Democratic voters of that State, and a following of such a character that it can be made to do as the boss directs. Of course if Hill could be induced to loyally support Mr. Cleveland the latter's chances would be much improved and the obstacle which renders his nomination dangerous and therefore doubtful, removed. But that is hardly within the range of possibilities. The feeling between the Hill faction and the Cleveland faction in the Empire State is too bitter to be composed. It is inevitable if Cleveland is nominated that he will encounter a strong opposition in his own State. How strong this opposition will be is a question which is puzzling the Democratic leaders, and is making many of them hesitate to recommend the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. Hill has been killed as a Presidential nominee, but he remains the arbiter of Democratic destinies. He can take New York from the list of Democratic States, and with it all chance of electing a Democratic President. And he has been kicked and cuffed so vigorously by Mr. Cleveland's friends that the Democracy are very much afraid if Mr. Cleveland is nominated he will use his power.

SKODA'S DISCOVERY.

CHARLES EMMET.

"I AM CURED!"

Physicians, Pile Remedies and the Knife

UTTERLY FAILED!

Yet there was Help!

GENTS—I wish to inform you that the treatment consisting of SKODA'S REMEDIES you sent me for Piles, has, as you stated in your letter accompanying the same, actually cured me.

Why, gentlemen, I can hardly realize it, when I stop to think of the long years of suffering I have endured, of the Pile Remedies I have tried; of the Physicians employed; of the two surgical operations performed (having had the Pile Tumors removed twice with the knife) and all I could get was temporary relief. But now after taking seven bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY, Three Boxes of SKODA'S PILE CURE, I am cured.

I am now able to work every day, and shall start for Virginia in a few days to work cutting cane.

You freely gave me the medicine, but I want to partially pay you for what you have done. Enclosed find $25, which is about what I paid for one operation that did me really no good at all.

Gratefully yours, CHAS. EMMET.

John M. Bickford, Albion P. McVain, J. H. Connor, W. S. Trott, Enoch Murray and Washington Cushing were appointed special policemen without pay. The names of Andrew C. O'Donoghue and Andrew J. Adams were laid on the table.

The Police Force.

This rule for the examination of members of the police force was presented:

When a member of the police force shall be ordered before the examining board by the mayor for examination, his examination shall be conducted as under rules 4, 5, 6, 8, 11 and 15 of the present code of rules governing admission to the police department, and the examiners shall make a full report of such examinations to the Mayor and aldermen for their information. Passed.

These are the rules referred to in the rule passed.

Rule IV. Unless otherwise directed, the medical and surgical examination will first be undergone, and no candidate unable to pass such test will be examined further.

Rule V. Candidates will be expected to answer promptly all questions which may be propounded to them.

Rule VI. The board reserves to itself all necessary time for deliberation, and if necessary for inquiry concerning candidates, as well as the right to recall them for further examination before announcing its decision.

Rule IX. During said month, recommendations or remonstrances in reference to any candidate will be received and considered by the examining board, if signed by responsible citizens.

Rule XI. Falsehood, equivocation, evasion, misrepresentation or concealment of the truth, if discovered, will insure the rejection of an applicant.

Rule XV. The examination is designed to test the physical, moral and mental qualifications of candidates, including an inquiry into their strength, activity, power of endurance, courage, self-control, judgment, willingness to obey, disposition, quickness of comprehension, manners, bearing, accuracy of perception, thought and expression, promptness, capacity and willingness to learn, and their familiarity with the streets, localities and principal buildings and objects in the city and vicinity.

Inquiry being made by Aldermen Gallagher, Guptill and Josselyn as to the idea of the rule passed, the City Marshal stated that it was to increase the efficiency of the department. Before 1885, when the civil service laws went into effect, policemen didn't have to pass any examination, but under this rule it will enable the Mayor to have all the force who have not been physically and mentally examined called before the examining board.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Business at the Regular Monthly Meeting Last Evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the school committee was held last evening. There were present the Mayor, Superintendent Lord and Messrs. Bradley, Webb, Brownson, McDonald and Blake.

After the transaction of routine business relating to the purchase of books two photographers, Messrs. Rounds and Waite, asked permission to photograph the scholars in the schools. The requests were denied on the ground that the process would interfere with discipline.

Miss Frederika M. Parks, a North school teacher, was given two months leave of absence, in which to prepare herself for a course in Cornell University.

Miss Woodman was chosen assistant to Miss Barstow at the Centre street kindergarten.

The resignation of Miss Ray M. Hodsdon, of the Backett street school, was received, to take effect May 29th.

Superintendent Lord reported that the flags, which had been presented to the schools about two years ago, were nearly all worn out, and asked the committee to take some action in the matter. The matter was discussed informally by the committee. About $200 a year will be required to keep up the custom of flying the flag over the school houses. As the city government had originally moved in the matter, the committee decided to refer the matter to that body now.

Superintendent Lord next called attention to the difficulties experienced in the lowest primary grade by the dropping in at irregular intervals of small children unable to read; and he proposed a rule that such children be admitted but twice a year—at the beginning of the fall term and after the May vacations. This lies over a month under the rules.

Mr. Bradley was elected temporarily to the committee on estimates and expenditures in place of Mr. McGowan, who is sick.

Approved bills to the amount of $8, 679.58 were reported.

Harbor Notes.

The yacht Mildred, owned by Messrs. J. R. Dimock and Wm. McLaughlin, has had new masts, sails and rigging, and now lies at the yacht anchorage ready for the season. Her cabin has been lengthened about six feet. She was painted and ornamented by Zenas Thompson & Bro.

The schooner Laura Bell is lying on the west side of custom house wharf, receiving a new coat of paint and other repairs, preparing for a mackereling trip to the southward.

Mr. W. E. Carter has added a new catboat to his fleet of pleasure boats. She was made by a builder down the coast.

Visiting Masons.

Saturday night, Eminent Sir Horace H. Burbank of Saco, Grand Generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of the Knight Templars of Maine, made an official visitation to Gardiner, accompanied by the following Portland Knights: Commander J. H. Fogg, of St. Alban Commandery; Sirs L. A. Gray, A. C. Waite, M. H. Dole, H. B. Bennett, J. D. Williams and J. H. Pine. The party was met at the depot by Eminent Sir A. M. Spear and Sir O. M. Clason, of Maine Commandery, and escorted to the Evans House, where a banquet was served. An address was made by Inspecting Officer Burbank.

The Good Derived from
HOOD'S
Sarsaparilla
All Run Down With Dyspepsia

The peculiar combination of stomach tonics and alterative remedies in Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled, and this superiority explains the wonderful success of

in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion and similar troubles. Mr. T. A. Wheelock, a well known citizen of Burlington, Vt., writes:

"Six months ago I was badly run down and unable to attend to business. The principal trouble seemed to be due to indigestion and aggravated dyspepsia. I had no appetite, and what I did eat distressed me. Added to this was a nervous disturbance. Physicians that I employed failed to reach my case. I grew worse, lost flesh and almost hope. One day I ran across a testimonial for Hood's Sarsaparilla stating what it had done in what seemed to be a case similar to mine. I got a bottle and in three or four days saw that I felt better. Before I had finished the first bottle, was greatly improved. Rested better, felt better, and knew I was

Better All Over
I continued with the medicine, and have taken two bottles and now feel better than at any time for the past five years. Feel as hearty as when a boy. Have regained my flesh, have good appetite, can sleep well, and my nerves are in excellent condition. I would not value a thousand dollars for what it did for me." T. A. WHEELLOCK, Burlington, Vt.

Fully Indorsed
"We have sold Mr. T. A. Wheelock several bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and have heard him tell in high terms of commendation what it has done for him. I know that he has recommended to many others here. Our customers generally speak well of it." F. L. TAFT & Co., Pharmacists, Burlington, Vt.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"TO THE TEN THOUSAND!"

A merchant once said that an advertisement must appeal to one of three classes of customers.

There is the million whose individual purchases are small but which foot up to enormous amounts.

The "Hundred Thousand" who are our good customers making large purchases and taking articles of a good grade.

And the "Ten Thousand" who seldom read the advertisements but whose individual purchases count up heavily as they purchase the best.

A WORD TO THESE.

We have received some new things in chamber sets that we wish to present to your attention. They are exhibited on the first floor and in our show windows and are the admiration of all. The material is something new here—white mahogany—and the style, the finish and the carvings are particularly fine. The carving is especially delicate and adds no little amount to the value of the set. The wash stands have a feature in a tile inlaid back.

A Bird's eye maple set on the same floor is thought by many to be as fine. The handsome grain of the wood always attracts attention. The oval mirrors that accompany these sets make every lady stop.

FOLDING BEDS.

A handsomely finished Folding Bed is an ornament to any room. We have some beauties right in this department—Both the Phoenix and the Gunn—and we want you to examine them. We have them in different styles of finish and at all prices.

SIDEBOARDS.

These sideboards we have just received are considered the finest things in the city and if your residence is not already provided with one you should secure one of them. They are in oak and mahogany, fine glass fronts and are something that no well-furnished dining-room should be without.

DINING-ROOM TABLES.

We have dining-room tables in white mahogany also besides our regular line. You should notice them as you come in. There are a number of small tables in the same lot.

These goods are right from the manufacturers and whether or not you are in need of them you will be interested in examining them.
